

Britain, Soviet Support Jordan On Israel Charge

Two Nations Take Jordan's Side After Hearing Israel Defend Position in Border Skirmishes

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Jordan won quick support from Britain and the Soviet Union today after charging Israel with unprovoked aggression and calling for strong U.N. penalties.

The two countries took Jordan's side after hearing Israel defend her position and blame the Jordan government for the current border clashes. Israel said the incidents would end any time Jordan wanted peace.

Both Britain and Russia praised Jordan for her restraint. Russia also strongly condemned Israel for alleged violations of the U.N. charter and the cease-fire agreements.

Jordan opened the debate in the 11-nation Security Council by warning that it will take matters in its own hands unless the Council can stop the Israeli attacks immediately.

The Council will continue the debate next week at a date to be announced later.

Calling for the strongest U. N. penalties short of military action, Jordan's ambassador, Abdul Monem Rifai, said:

"If the Council doesn't take action to stop the Israeli aggression right away, then my country will have to seek other methods by which it could insure the safety of our borders."

Rifai did not elaborate except to say "such a development, if it happens, will extend beyond our present local arrangements." This appeared to be a threat of large-scale military action, perhaps, with the aid of other Arab forces.

The Jordan representative told the Council that Israel's recent activities could not be discarded as border incidents.

"It is war," he continued, "except that it lacks the rules of war, the bravery of war and the honor and morals of war."

Rifai said the whole trouble stemmed from an aggressive Israeli policy and that the border incidents "were premeditated and unprovoked."

"Israel," he said, "is destroying the very foundations of the general armistice agreement."

Rifai did not spell out what sort of penalties he wanted the Council to invoke. He urged action under Article 41 of the U.N. Charter which provides for the severance of diplomatic relations, economic restrictions and possible rupture of all outside communications.

Rifai was the first speaker as the Council opened its debate on Jordan and Israeli complaints growing out of the recent incidents which were reported fatal to 105 persons.

Airman Killed When Car Leaves Road

Airman First Class Larry Goetz, Joplin, assigned to the 340th Refueling Squadron, Whiteman Air Force Base, was killed at about 1:50 a. m. today when the driver of the car in which he was a passenger apparently fell asleep and the car left the road.

The accident occurred 12 miles west of Warrensburg on Highway 50. The driver, A/2c Warren Lee Erickson is reported "seriously ill" at the Whiteman AFB hospital.

Another passenger, A/2c Richard Glenn Henniss, escaped with minor injuries.

Scattered Showers Seen for Missouri

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The weatherman talked a little more favorably today about the prospect for some moisture in Missouri.

He forecast scattered showers and thunderstorms in the extreme southwest portion this afternoon and spreading over the southwest portion tonight and into the southeast and east-central sections Saturday.

While it will be a little cooler over most of the state Saturday, the Weather Bureau figures that in the next five days ahead temperatures will average 6 to 10 degrees above normal. Saturday's highs will be mostly in the 70s.

Churchmen's Group Hears Jones Speak

Civic Leader Says Church Attendance Must Be Increased

An objective of the Sedalia Churchmen's Group to encourage church attendance was given stimulation by Lem T. Jones, outstanding business, church and civic leader, Kansas City, who spoke at a dinner meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday evening.

Ninety-five members of the group and guests representing 14 Sedalia churches attended to hear the inspiring talk by a man experienced in men's work who believes in delegating individual responsibility to churchmen in meeting the spiritual resurgence in the United States. He was introduced by Program Chairman Lou Satorius, A. W. Haller presided during the meeting.

"Twenty per cent church attendance won't get the job done in this new era," the speaker said in challenging the local leaders to harness each man to a responsibility and renew the warmth of fellowship in churches.

The speaker's personal experiences with organizational work to encourage church attendance packed a punch which left its impact on those present to continue the Sedalia campaign vigorously.

The Rev. D. Warren Neal, pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian Church, suggested that an initial project of the group be cooperation in filling Jennie Jaynes Stadium, Liberty Park for the Reformation Sunday services Oct. 28, when C. Stanley Lowell, Washington, D. C. will speak. The group accepted the challenge in the term of Jones' previously spoken axiom that "the arithmetic of action is accepting responsibility."

The meeting was opened with prayer by Irwin Raut and several songs by the Sedalia Men's Choral Club led by Abe Rosenthal. It was closed by Rosenthal and Dick Snow leading the group in singing "Faith of Our Fathers." Benediction was by Abe Silverman.

Four Persons Killed By Blast in Atom Bomb Proof Building

OSLO, Norway (AP)—At least four persons perished and a dozen were hurt in an explosion today at an atom bomb-proof government ammunition works dug into the mountains 65 miles north of Oslo.

A spokesman for the Rautoff works said four bodies had been recovered three hours after the blast occurred, in a hall where normally about 100 persons work. There was no immediate word as to the cause of the explosion.

The Rautoff works, owned by the Norwegian government, makes ammunition and high explosives for NATO forces.

Khrushchev Races to Warsaw Amid Polish Move Toward Independence

FLOOD AFTER THE DROUTH—These homes in Kissimmee, Fla., were among those abandoned by approximately 200 families after torrential rains from a small tropical storm dumped up to 15 inches of rain in the central part of the state. Damage to the area was estimated in excess of two million dollars. Although some crops were hurt by water, most of the area's growers welcomed the end of a two-year drouth. (NEA Telephoto)

Propane Gas Fire Kills 7, Burns Homes

Exploding Tanks Hurl Fragments; Six Badly Burned

HERRIN, Ill. (AP)—Escaping propane gas erupted last night into a searing sheet of flame that mushroomed from a bottled gas plant with flame-thrower effect.

Seven persons were fatally injured, six others were badly burned and five homes and the gas plant warehouse were destroyed.

The flash fire set off a series of explosions. Gas tanks exploded like bombs, hurling metal fragments 100 yards away.

William Mortimer, who escaped injury although his house in the heart of the stricken neighborhood was destroyed, told of running outside to find three neighbors "were human torches."

The dead were: Fred Kerley, 62; Mrs. Elizabeth Kerley, 62, his wife;

Charlotte Jarvis, 11; Robert Lee Keller, 3; Oscar Williams, 38;

Mrs. Violet Williams, 33, his wife;

Freddie Williams, 3, their son.

Children at play were swept by the flames. Some of the destroyed houses were blown apart. Hospital attendants said nearly all of the dead and injured had third degree burns over 40 to 90 per cent of their bodies.

Mortimer and his wife said the Kerley home next door had collapsed when they ran outside.

The Kerleys and Freddie Williams were on fire, Mrs. Mortimer said. "Mrs. Kerley was lying on the sidewalk. I took her by the hand and lifted her to her feet. Her clothes were completely burned from her, and I got a chair covering to put over her."

"I thought it was some kind of a bomb that exploded," Authorities said the gas, escaping from a ruptured line from a truck, apparently spread to the nearby residential area and was ignited by an open flame in one of the homes.

Doctors, describing a scene of horror at the Herrin Hospital, said of the injured, "There are a lot we won't be able to do anything for."

Governor Denies Hodge Trial Charge

CHICAGO (AP)—Gov. William G. Stratton, appearing before a U.S. Senate committee, has denied "any implication" that onetime Auditor Orville E. Hodge was spirited off to prison to keep other names out of the 1½-million-dollar state check-cashing scandal.

Stratton, a Republican seeking re-election, testified before the Democrat-controlled Senate Banking and Currency Committee yesterday at his own request. The hearings, which have lasted two weeks, were scheduled to end today with questioning of State Treasurer Warren Wright and Charles J. Fleck, Cook County (Chicago) public administrator.

During nearly 3½ hours of testimony, Stratton said he was powerless, under the state constitution, to interfere with other elected officials. He testified that once the embezzlements were known, he took "firm, effective" action in getting rid of Hodge.

The committee, headed by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), has been probing the banking aspects of the Hodge swindle with the aim of improving federal banking laws. Hodge, a Republican, is in prison for admittedly embezzling 1½ million dollars from the state treasury through a bogus check-cashing scheme.

Stratton recounted his action in the case beginning July 4 when he ordered the Illinois Budgetary Commission to investigate published claims of wrongdoing in the auditor's office. He said it was during a conference he and Atty. Gen. Latham Castle had with Hodge July 16 that Hodge agreed to resign.

Any person, whether civilian or military personnel, who feels that he or she cannot afford to pay the individual quota in a lump sum, may stretch the contribution over the month long campaign, receiving receipts each time and obtain the membership upon payment of the balance.

Either the decal or the membership card will relieve personnel of the responsibility of making other contributions — either at home or at other bases in the event of reassignment for the remainder of the fiscal year.

With the exception of the Air Force Aid Society campaign, the United Fund Drive will be the only charity campaign to be conducted on the base during fiscal year 1957. Unit project officers are being appointed now and their names will be printed in next week's Skywriter along with the individual goals of civilian and military personnel.

Last year's donations went to the Community Chests of Sedalia, Warrensburg, Knob Noster, La Monte and Windsor as well as the following national charity organizations: Red Cross, Salvation Army, Heart, Cancer, Muscular Dystrophy and Cerebral Palsy.

Whiteman AFB to Open Fund Drive

Will Ask Day's Pay Per Individual; Starts November 1

Whiteman Air Force Base's United Fund Drive will get underway Nov. 1 and run through Dec. 1.

This will be Whiteman's second such drive; the first campaign having been held in January-February, late in fiscal year 1956.

United Fund Campaigns for service organizations and civilian communities are held annually during the months of October and November and although this will be the Eighth Air Force installation's second such drive in this calendar year, this campaign will put the base in step with the other bases and communities for future drives.

United Fund officials said "this year's goal will be based on the contribution of approximately a day's pay per individual. Last year's total donations amounted to $18,140 and it is hoped the contribution this year will total even more."

Civilian personnel and Air Refueling Squadron topped all units last year with donations of $1,703 and $1,504 respectively. Three other units, while not contributing as much as the previously mentioned squadrons, gave 100 per cent or more of their squadron total dollar goal. These were Food Service, Operations Squadron and Weather.

The outstanding feature of this type of drive is the fact that personnel are enabled to support virtually all charitable organizations with a single donation as well as saving the many hours consumed by conducting many drives during the year.

Like the first United Fund Drive here at Whiteman last January and February, membership cards will be each contributor's receipt and proof that he or she has donated the individual goal of one day's pay to the fund.

In addition to the membership cards, each person donating the personal goal will receive a 4x4 inch decal reading "I gave a Day's Pay to Whiteman Air Force Base 1957 United Fund." This decal may be placed on either automobile windshields or a window of the home.

Attending from Sedalia was George H. Scruton, editor of The Democrat-Capital and a member of the Historical Society's board of directors.

The meeting was highlighted by the presentation of an oil portrait of Secretary Floyd C. Shoemaker by Finance Committee Chairman E. E. Swain, Kirksville. The portrait was done by Daniel L. MacMorris and was accepted for the Society by University of Missouri President Elmer Ellis.

Arrives As Once-Imprisoned Gomulka Is Returned Power

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—A responsible source said Nikita S. Khrushchev appeared in Warsaw today just as Wladislaw Gomulka, once jailed as a Titoist, was being triumphantly restored to a position of power in the Polish party.

The informant said the Soviet Communist boss took part in discussions of the opening session of the Polish United Workers — Communist — party Central Committee and then went into conference with top-ranking Polish leaders.

There was no official announcement that Khrushchev was here.

Election of Gomulka and three of his closest associates — including the defense minister of pre-Cominform days — was the first act of a fateful Central Committee meeting which opened this morning.

Word of a Khrushchev visit leaked out when a fleet of cars was seen driving into Warsaw from a military airport. It was believed A.I. Mikoyan, a Soviet first deputy premier, was with the Red boss.

Polish Communist leaders were reported in a mood to demand complete independence from Moscow control, and this could have a profound effect throughout Eastern Europe and the Communist states which are tied to Moscow.

The report said Gomulka, ready to take over a top-ranking spot in the Polish party leadership, was angry at the Khrushchev visit, regarding it as tactless at a time when the Polish party was under great public pressure to adopt a more independent position.

Along with Gomulka, the committee re-elected Gen. Marian Marek-Spychalski, Zenon Kliszko and Lodge Sowinski. All four were purged and jailed at the height of the Kremlin's split with President Tito of Yugoslavia, whose independent brand of communism resulted in his ouster from the Cominform in 1948.

Marek-Spychalski's return raised widespread speculation of imminent downfall of Defense Minister Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, a Polish-born Soviet army officer, brought from Moscow to take the job in 1949.

Rokossovsky was reported ready to make a pact with the resurgent Gomulka, but to many Poles the marshal is a symbol of the Soviet domination which the current session of the Central Committee is expected to end.

The Central Committee was

Japan, Soviet End 11-Year State of War

Trade Agreement Included in Pact; Claims Deferred

MOSCOW (AP)—Japan and the Soviet Union today signed a declaration ending the 11-year state of war between them.

Japanese Premier Ichiro Hatoyama and Soviet Premier Nicolai Bulganin signed the end-of-war declaration and a trade protocol after more than 16 months of off-and-on negotiations.

Practically the entire Presidium of the Soviet government and its ruling Communist party were ranged behind them in the klieg-lit conference room of the Grand Kremlin Palace as they attached their signatures.

The declaration ending the state of war deferred all discussions on Japan's territorial claims to a later date. Japan failed to win the immediate return of Soviet-occupied Habomai and Shikotan Islands north of Japan. The Soviet agreed to return the islands only after the conclusion of a formal peace treaty.

The trade protocol granted most-favored nation treatment by both sides. Under that formula each nation agrees to give the other treatment as good as it gives any other nation in a trade deal.

Japanese officials said they had reached "complete agreement" with the Soviet government. Russia refused to sign the San Francisco Peace Treaty in 1951.

Hatoyama's top negotiator, Agriculture Minister Ichiro Kono, said the final agreement involved concessions on both sides.

"As far as international agreements go," he added, "it was a very good result."

The Japanese Premier's official spokesman, Takizo Matsumoto, said the disputed tiny islands of Habomai and Shikotan, off north Hokkaido, were mentioned in the agreement. He did not disclose whether the Russians had agreed to hand them back.

Observers believed the return of the islands depended on Japanese renunciation of all claims to Soviet-occupied Etorufu and Kumschiri, in the southern Kuriles.

Boonville Chamber Votes to Ask New Hearing on Highway

The board of directors of the Boonville Chamber of Commerce and its special highway committee voted unanimously Thursday to ask for a rehearing before the State Highway Commission in regard to the relocation of Highway 40.

The board and special committees met at the Hotel Frederick Thursday noon. There were 25 persons in attendance and the vote again demonstrated the deep concern in the highway location proposal rejection that was received here by letter recently from Rex Whitton, chief engineer.

The letter explained that a motion to accept Boonville's proposal before the State Highway commission had failed of passage. The State Highway commission had registered a split vote in the matter, two voting for the motion, and two against.

The major portion of Thursday's meeting concerned the highway relocation matter and a subsequent plan of followup.

Presley Gets Into Fight In Tennessee

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A service station manager sported a black eye today, souvenir of a fight with Elvis (The Pelvis) Presley, the teen-agers' rock 'n' roll idol.

The fistfight flared yesterday when station manager Ed Hopper became irate because a crowd drawn by Presley and his $10,000 car was blocking business at the gas pumps.

Presley, 21, Hopper, 42, and a late comer to the fight, station attendant Aubrey Brown, 21, were free on $52 bonds, all charged with assault and battery and disorderly conduct.

Asst. Police Chief Bruns McCarrall said officers already on the scene broke up the fight and reported that Hopper was trying to unlimber a small pocket knife at the time.

Presley, home for a few days from his rock 'n' roll tours, said the trouble started after he drove his glossy, white Continental Mark II into the downtown station and asked Hopper to check the gas tank for leaks.

A crowd began to assemble, blocking traffic. Hopper finally asked Presley to move on so the station could get back to normal business.

A witness, Harvey Huff, told police that Presley, seated in his car signing autographs, agreed to move on but delayed to oblige eager fans. Huff said Hopper slapped Presley on the back of the head and snapped:

"I said to move on."

Presley, 6-1 and 185 pounds, jumped from the car and crossed a right that set Hopper (5-10, 175) back on his heels and cut a half-inch gash at the corner of his left eye.

Huff said a policeman and another man broke up the fight and then Brown, 6-4 and 220 pounds, moved in and also drew a Presley right.

"He just barely hit me in the left eye," said Brown, who was unmarked.

Truman Talks About Nixon In Indiana

GARY, Ind. (AP)—Former President Truman says the Republicans are offering a vice-presidential candidate "who could never possibly be elected president in his own right."

"They are offering a man who has neither the qualifications nor the standing in the eyes of his fellow citizens to hold that exalted office," Truman said in a campaign speech here last night.

He said Vice President Nixon has a voting record "consistently against the interests of the worker, the farmer and small business."

"If any man or woman in America will take the trouble to study Nixon's record, and then goes out and votes the Republican ticket this fall—well, someone ought to take him to see a psychiatrist."

Truman said Democrats are offering candidates for president and vice president either of whom "is well qualified to hold the office of president." He said Adlai Stevenson had "demonstrated he is a fighter when the country's welfare is at stake."

Truman said President Eisenhower allowed the Russians to get a foothold in the eastern Mediterranean and could have prevented it.

"This is something the Russians have been trying to do for 300 years, since the time of Peter the Great," he said. "The Western nations have long tried to prevent this because they knew it would jeopardize the security not only of all Europe but of America as well."

"This did not have to happen. It could have been prevented by the President of the United States. I prevented it when I was president—that's what the doctrine of aid to Greece and Turkey was all about. But you can't prevent things like that if the President leaves his foreign policy up to a secretary of state who flits about all over the world with his foot in his mouth."

Fair Weather Over Most of US With Some Rainy Areas

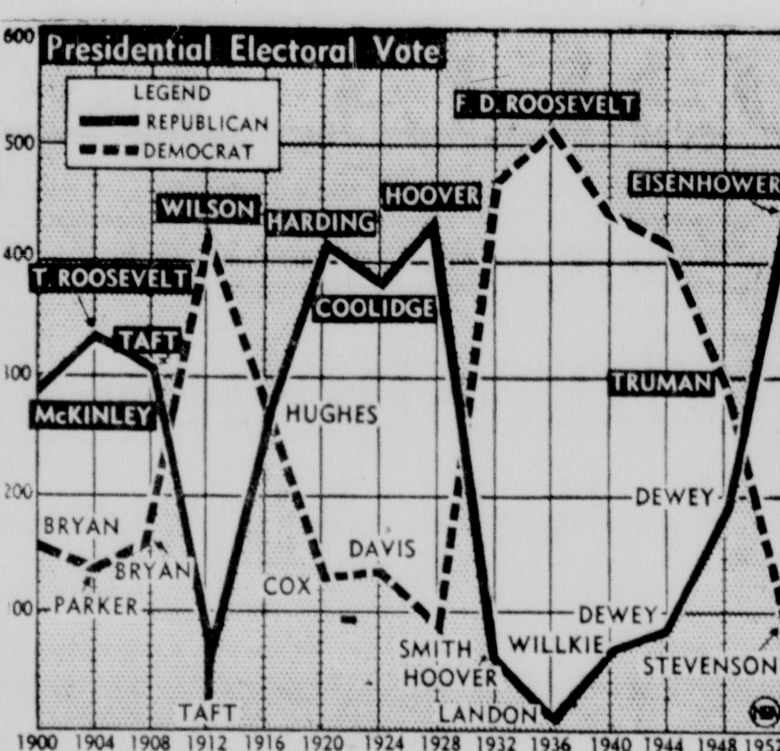

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There were a few rainy areas but fair weather prevailed in most of the nation today.

The Atlantic coastal storm that brought heavy rain and strong winds from Maine to New Jersey this week moved out to sea yesterday. However, rain and showers continued during the night in the Carolinas. Clear skies were in prospect for the northeastern area.

Welcome rains which fell in drought areas of Texas were expected to spread northward into southern Kansas and southwestern Missouri during the day. Scattered showers also were forecast for the northern half of the Rockies, and more rain was the outlook for western Oregon and Washington.

ELECTORAL COLLEGE—Newschart shows the ups and downs of the electoral vote since 1900 when McKinley defeated Bryan. In 1932, Franklin D. Roosevelt carried the Democrats into the White House where they remained for 20 years. In the 56 years since the turn of the century the Republicans and Democrats each have been in power for 28 years. In the 1936 election Franklin D. Roosevelt showed he was the champion vote-getter by amassing 523 electoral votes, an all-time high. That same year, Alfred M. Landon polled only eight, smallest total recorded by a major party candidate in modern times.

REA Finances Phone Loans for Service To 718,663 Farms

WASHINGTON (AP)—Seven years of Rural Electrification Administration loans have financed facilities making possible dial telephone service to 718,663 farm subscribers, the agency reported today.

On Sept. 1, REA had loaned $321,877,342 to 480 telephone organizations to build new rural systems or improve old ones. The program started in 1949.

The borrowers include 197 rural cooperatives and 283 small commercial companies serving rural customers.

Funds loaned under the REA program carry 2 per cent interest and must be repaid over a maximum of 35 years.

The REA said that up to Sept. 1 the amounts loaned for telephone services included:

Missouri $16,172,000, Kansas $19,362,000.

Professor Believes He Has Found Use For H-Bomb Fallout

SOCORRO, N.M. (AP)—A physics professor says he believes he has found a peaceful use for the fallout from a hydrogen bomb blast. Dr. Haro V. Buttler of New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology says the normal amount of radioactive tritium in the atmosphere is multiplied a hundredfold for about six months after an H-bomb explosion.

Rain becomes supercharged with it. Progress of that water underground can be traced with instruments which register radioactivity.

The importance of underground water courses in arid country is vital to farmers and ranchers who depend on wells.

Plane Crashes In Antarctic Killing 3 Men

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Navy plane carrying advance units of this year's South Polar expedition crashed on the antarctic ice shelf yesterday, killing three men and injuring five others, three critically.

The Navy here said six other planes landed safely after the 2,250-mile flight from New Zealand to McMurdo Sound.

All were carrying advance units of a scientific expedition to the antarctic area for work in connection with the International Geophysical Year, in which many nations are sharing their scientific discoveries.

Additional flights from New Zealand were halted temporarily by a white-out blizzard, one of the antarctic's worst features.

The Navy listed the dead as Lt. David M. Carey, the plane's pilot, of White Plains, N.Y.; Aviation Machinist Mate I.C. Marion O. Marze, Waxham, N.C.; and Aviation Electronic Technician Charles S. Miller, Providence, R.I.

Two of the men critically injured in the crash had been aboard a Navy patrol bomber which crash-landed in Venezuela last February while heading for emergency rescue work in the antarctic.

They are Marine Capt. Rayburn A. Hudman of Saunderton, R.I., and Marine Sgt. Robert C. Spann of Eggertsville, N.Y. They and six others were rescued from the Venezuelan jungle clearing by helicopter.

Adlai Attacks Ike's Close Associates

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson launched a fresh attack on President Eisenhower's aides today.

It came as his campaign manager was saying the presidential race has reached the point where "neither side is gaining" and victory could be achieved by winning over the "undecided" voters.

Stevenson fired a new broadside at Vice President Nixon, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and several other Cabinet members.

The Democratic presidential nominee said in an advance text of a talk here that as one example "a vote for Eisenhower is a vote for (Secretary of Agriculture) Benson, whose friendship for the farmer depends on the proximity of an election."

Stevenson's return to the assault of the men around Eisenhower appeared to be related to a decision of his strategists that while they believe they have halted any political gains by the President, Stevenson's prospects also have leveled off.

James E. Finnegan, Stevenson's campaign manager, said in his opinion the presidential contest has reached the point where voters who list themselves as undecided will tip the balance next month.

Coming from a two-day swing through Michigan and Ohio, Stevenson ripped into Eisenhower's statement that Nixon is the "best qualified man to serve" as vice president.

Asserting that the Republican congressional leaders value Eisenhower as a candidate but ignore him as a party leader, Stevenson said that if Eisenhower is re-

Have Mature Beauty Without Dieting, Use Pointers

Lots of mature women really don't want to lose weight. This attitude is fine if the doctor approves and one pays scrupulous attention to grooming details. Picking a becoming hemline is important. Dresses that aren't right should be adjusted with the aid of a hem-marker (left). A sturdy foundation (top center) should be washed frequently, without rubbing, to keep it in good shape. Aching feet, which often cause lines in the face, can be eased with a footbath in lukewarm suds (bottom center). Size 8 or 38, all details should be checked before going out (right). Appropriateness, cleanliness and a good smile are important.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

There are many Junoesque women who take a peek at the latest diet and feel not a pang. They've added their allotted 10 pounds every 10 years and now that they feel they've reached the optimum age for enjoying life, they have not a regret about being a fine figure of a woman. They like it, their doctors approve and so do their husbands. Why starve?

A splendid, attractive woman has every right to take pleasure in her appearance. And if she watches these few pointers, she can do it, even if she is substantial in size. A well-fitted foundation is a must. A good-sized mature woman ought to have several. One to wash, one to wear and one to spare. And since a well-fitted all-in-one is costly of time and money to buy, it deserves loving care. A good pretreating of soiled spots with a brush and thick suds comes first. Then washing in fresh suds (no wringing or rubbing, rinsing, rolling in a towel and drying away from heat. Careful attention to detail is mandatory for a big woman. A sagging hemline, an ill-fitted dress, a collar poorly attached, turn a potential Juno into a sack of meal. Hemlines should be picked to flatter. Every new dress should be fitted over the proper foundation and the hem adjusted correctly. Old dresses beginning to sag should be corrected. Dark colors, the favorite of large women, call for sparkling accessories. Make the white gloves really white, the new collar set correctly and minus powder smears. White or gray hair is another accessory that should sparkle in contrast to dark outfits. A shampoo should continue until the hair squeaks. A brightening rinse may be added, if one desires. A big woman puts a load on her feet every step she takes. And feel that hurt can cause other aches, plus tired lines in a handsome face. Pick shoes with utmost care and baby the feet. A day that's seemed overlong can be finished off with a foot soak in lukewarm suds. Wiggling and stretching can stop feet from throbbing. A bath pillow on the bottom of the tub is for extra comfort.

Nixon to Take Rest After 25,000 Miles Of Campaign Travel

WILMINGTON, Del. — Vice President Nixon completed today 25,000 miles of campaign travel. He then will take a weekend rest.

With speeches here today and in Baltimore tonight, he completes his second major cross-country swing. Monday he starts a third, more concentrated tour.

Nixon's theme for his talks today is the same he has been using in most of his addresses in 14 states during the past 10 days — his view that Adlai Stevenson "just isn't in the same league" as President Eisenhower when it comes to leadership in international or domestic affairs.

In New York last night Nixon took time out from the campaign trail to make the avowedly non-political main address at the annual Alfred E. Smith Memorial Dinner. Smith, former New York governor, was the 1928 Democratic presidential nominee.

Nixon predicted the United States will come through the present crisis over racial desegregation in public schools as, he said, it has surmounted in the past such things as the Ku Klux Klan and the antiforeign Know Nothing movement.

This Season Every Woman a 'Fair Lady'

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
This is the season when every woman becomes a "fair lady" and languishes in the manner of 1912, thanks to an Englishman, Cecil Beaton, who started it all with his costume designs for the Broadway musical hit of the same name.

Observing how the feminine fripperies of 1912, as so charmingly portrayed behind the footlights, were sweeping the current world of fashion, Beaton decided to design his own collection for wear by the women of 1956. Collaborating with Samuel Winston and designer Roxane, Beaton has turned out a group of 12 evening gowns which outdo all the current imitations, and recreate the nostalgic mood of his famous embassy ball scene in "My Fair Lady."

This is Beaton's first excursion into the world of dress designing for the general public, although he is known for his varied accomplishments as a painter, photographer, author, scenic designer, lecturer, interior decorator and costume designer.

He developed his skill as a portrait photographer in London by taking pictures of his two beautiful sisters, and since has photographed most of the famous beauties of the world, up to and including Marilyn Monroe. Perhaps his most widely known photographs are those of the British Royal Family.

Nowadays he has become a trans-Atlantic commuter, shuttling between his studio apartment in London and his Edwardian suite at the Hotel Ambassador in New York, which he has decorated in a nostalgic mood, complete with white wicker furniture, bead window shades and rose-strewn bedroom. Says Beaton: "I like to keep busy. Hate boredom, you know."

Girl Scout Founder's Birthplace Dedicated

SAVANNAH, Ga. — The birthplace of Juliette Gordon Low, founder of the Girl Scouts, will be dedicated today. Mrs. Low established the Girl Scout organization in 1912 when she was 52. The Girl Scouts bought the 132-year-old building in 1953.

MAUVE DECADE — Here are two evening gowns in the mood of 1912, designed by Cecil Beaton. Left, a slim black silk crepe skirt is accented with yellow, coral and mauve chiffon sash and reembodying lace bodice. Right, the tunic dinner gown is made of two layers of lace, one mauve, one green, over a slim mauve satin sheath. Wide cummerbund is printed taffeta.

Tiny colored gumdrops may be stuck on toothpicks and surrounded with tiny lace paper doilies for favors for a small girl's party.

Gay Appliqued Motifs Perk Up Full-Skirted Jumper

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
A jumper is a schoolgirl's best friend. Easy to sew and easy to wear, it can do the work of several outfits when teamed with different blouses, sweaters and jackets.

But since everybody is wearing jumpers these days, it sometimes takes a little ingenuity to keep from looking exactly like the rest of the class. Local sewing center experts suggest a little fancy applique work to lend individuality to a plain jumper.

A basic full-skirted jumper, made from a standard pattern, lends itself perfectly to a large, bold applique design on the skirt. The jumper takes about four and half yards of fabric. Corduroy is a good choice. The blouse requires about two yards of fabric, plus another half yard if you choose to make an applique to match the blouse.

An automatic swing-needle sewing machine with fingertip control will make the applique work go like the breeze, since both the satin stitching used for the outline and most of the decorative stitches may be done simply by flicking levers on top of the machine. If you don't own one of the new machines, the automatic zigzag attachment also will do a good job.

When doing large-scale appliques do your decorative stitching before gathering the skirt or stitching it to the bodice. Cut your skirt section from the pattern, and do the decorative work before sewing it. To give body to the applique, line it with two layers of organdy.

FUN WITH APPLIQUES . . .
Use your imagination in making bold decorative applique trim to individualize basic jumper. Easy to do and fun to wear.

Credit Unions Chapter Has First Banquet

The West Central Credit Unions Chapter held its first banquet Thursday night in observance of Credit Union Day at St. Patrick's School, with 185 members and guests present.

This chapter is made up of Sedalia Missouri Pacific employees, Sedalia; Town and Country Shoes Federal, Odessa; Pittsburgh Corning Glassworkers, Sedalia; Town and Country Shoes Federal, Warrensburg; Whiteman Air Force Base, Sedalia; Util-Tog, Warrensburg; Town and Country Shoes Federal, Slater; St. Boniface, Brunswick; Town and Country Shoes Federal, Sedalia, and Ray Carroll Co-op, Richmond. There were representatives of most of the unions present.

Credit unions are chartering and supervising voluntary co-operative associations organized to promote thrift among members and to create a source of loans for provident and productive purposes. Membership is limited to groups of persons having a common bond of association occupation or residence. The West Central Credit Unions Chapter was organized in September of this year.

The speaker of the evening was Paul Hallam, Kansas City, president of the Missouri Credit Union League.

Hallam quoted Abraham Lincoln as saying: "The Lord must have loved the common man because he made so many of them," and he pointed out that credit unions are made up of common working people. The first credit union, he said, was started 107 years ago in Germany, with certain capitalists furnishing all the money. That didn't work. It was an Italian, he went on to say, who discovered that the credit union should be independent and a Scotchman who furthered the goals of such a union.

The board of directors elect the officers, Hallam said, but it is the supervisory committee that sees that the work of the unions is carried through. The first credit union was organized 49 years ago in the United States, in New Hampshire, 29 years ago the first one was organized in Missouri, and in 1927 Governor Baker signed the credit union law. This recognized the people who helped themselves grow, the speaker said, and quoted the Missouri motto, "Let the welfare of the people be the supreme law." Missouri, he stated, has one of the best labor laws.

Credit Union is American, he said. It works best in democracy because people are allowed to do things for themselves. The credit union, Hallam explained, is not a charitable organization, it is for people who have some means of income. He told of the low standard of living for the Negroes in the south, how some were sitting waiting for the white people to do something, but how a few of them were going ahead to do something for themselves, saved their money, and are buying their farms.

The purpose of this anniversary, Hallam said, is to make credit unions bigger and better. He urged them all to be better credit union members and to remember that they are their brothers' keepers. The meeting was presided over by James Anderson, president of the West Central Chapter, who also introduced the speaker.

Invocation was given by Larry Riley.

The group singing was led by Mrs. Dorothy Owen with Herbert Berlin at the piano.

The following guests were introduced: Floyd Priddy, president of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Priddy; Lawrence Riley, Pittsburgh-Corning; Dave Rush, Town and Country; Mrs. Everett White, Town and Country and Mr. White; and Mrs. Herbert Hunter, Springfield, wife of the field representative for the Missouri Credit League.

Officers at the speakers table who were introduced were Gerald King, vice-president, from Pittsburgh-Corning; Kenneth Campbell, secretary-treasurer, from Town and Country, Sedalia, and Mrs. Eudine Neas, registrar, from Town and Country, Warrensburg.

A program of unusual entertainment was presented by three of the credit unions, the first a clever comedy skit by the Util-Tog unit, Warrensburg; the second number was a vocal solo by Mrs. Marjorie Todd, Town and Country Shoes Federal, Warrensburg, who sang, "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep you," and the third a lively trio put on by the Town and Country Shoes Federal, Slater. Composing the trio was Harry Means, Slater, piano, Charles Kuger, Sedalia, mandolin, and Joe Schulpz, Sedalia, who really went to town on his washboard instrument.

Youth Is Arrested For Offer to Shoot Apple From Head

NEW YORK (AP)—A New Jersey youth wearing a Robin Hood outfit and carrying bow and arrows was picked up in Times Square last night while offering to shoot an apple off the head of any willing person.

David Hahn, 19, Hasbrouck Heights, N.J., was standing at the corner of Broadway and 43rd St. He was wearing a green Robin Hood costume, hunter's cap and deerskin jacket. He carried a large bow and two steel-tipped arrows.

Kefauver Attacks GOP Reasons on H-Bomb

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver today denounced as "monstrous nonsense" what he called Republican reasons for refusing to discuss an end to hydrogen bomb testing.

Hitting once more at President Eisenhower's "last word" on the bomb issue, the Democratic vice-presidential candidate said Eisenhower cannot be permitted to snuff out discussion of "the nightmare of a nuclear weapons race" between this nation and Russia.

In unusually strong words prepared for a Democratic luncheon rally here not far from the birthplace of the A-bomb, Kefauver made it clear the Democrats intend to keep on pressing an international H-bomb curb as a campaign issue.

Officers at the speakers table who were introduced were Gerald King, vice-president, from Pittsburgh-Corning; Kenneth Campbell, secretary-treasurer, from Town and Country, Sedalia, and Mrs. Eudine Neas, registrar, from Town and Country, Warrensburg.

Kiwanis Club Is Told About REA Program

A comprehensive recital of what the rural electrification program is all about was given by Julius Helm, general manager of the Missouri REA, Jefferson City, speaking before the Sedalia Kiwanis Club Thursday noon in Bothwell Hotel.

Dan Robinson, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

Helm reviewed the early beginnings of the REA program back in 1935 and gave his impression of what he considered distortion of facts about REA and its purposes. He pointed out that REA came into being to bring rural electrification to the rural areas of the country when public utilities refused to borrow available money from the government to perform what the REA has now accomplished. Helm took issue with critics that REA is subsidized by the taxpayer whereas more money has been paid back in interest than was borrowed.

Abe Rosenthal, delegate to the Mo.-Ark convention in Jefferson City, presented to Past President Jack Crawford a district award of a silver ribbon in recognition of his 1955 Achievement Report.

Representing the Central Missouri Oil Club, Richard Cummings spoke in behalf of observance of Oil Progress Week. Also speaking on the same subject was Marjorie Cummins who was dressed entirely with clothing manufactured by partial use of petroleum products. Miss Cummins is Sedalia Queen of Oil Progress Week.

Red Troops Move Farther South Into Burma

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Chinese Communist troops from Tibet who entered Burma through the nation's northernmost mountain passes today were reported to have moved farther south.

The report to the English-language newspaper Nation said the troops had established one camp only nine days' march from the north Burma center of Putao (Fort Hertz).

The report indicated the Reds were trying to build up a basis for demanding the area — often in east of Putao and only a few miles from the Red troops' reported position, said the invading soldiers were busily taking a census of Tibetan inhabitants of the area.

Three Chinese invasions across the poorly defined northern and have been reported — one north of Putao by 3,000 troops crossing the mountain passes into Tibet, one farther south into the Kachin state, and an entrance into the Wa states in which the Reds reportedly occupied about 1,000 square miles of territory.

The Burmese government protested to Peiping, with which it has a friendship treaty. But a government source said Red China's only reply so far has been that the matter would be discussed when former Premier U Nu visits Peiping next week.

In Other Courts

Suit for $25,000 has been filed in Saline County Circuit Court at Marshall by a daughter for the death of her father on a highway against an airman at Whiteman Air Force Base, Knob Noster, and a Sweet Springs man.

The suit was brought by Dolores Joan West, Kansas City, administratrix of the estate of Jacob L. Knaus, deceased, against William P. Greer of the air base and Walter Walker of Sweet Springs.

The petition states the daughter was appointed administratrix by the probate court of Johnson County, Mrs. West, who states she is both the daughter and sole surviving heir, alleges that last Aug. 24 on Highway 40 about 3 1/2 miles east of Concordia Junction, her father was riding with Greer when Greer's car collided with a car driven by Walker. The father was thrown from the machine and fatally injured.

The petition alleges carelessness on the part of both drivers and states the collision occurred when Greer started to turn off of the highway without signalling just as Walker started to pass the Greer car. Both machines were traveling eastward.

Hallmark Of Integrity . . .

This is the insignie of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, the bureau of circulation standards for the advertising and publishing industry.

Our display of this symbol means that the circulation practices of the Sedalia Democrat and Capital have measured up to A. B. C. requirements and standards. Circulation figures shown in A. B. C. reports are much more than a series of digits. They are an exact measurement of our circulation, which for September showed a combined net paid figure of 12,291.

To our readers, this symbol is a measure of service. By knowing, through the continuing picture presented in our A. B. C. reports, exactly how large our circulation is and where our subscribers live, we can arrange our editorial coverage to best serve the interests of our readers.

For our advertisers, this symbol means both measure of service and a mark of integrity. As a measure of service to our advertisers, the A. B. C. report offers an audited breakdown of where every copy of an average issue goes, so that he might know the exact distribution of his sales message.

The open book of A. B. C. facts allows no self-satisfying claims—it admits only fact. The advertising audience we offer is precisely presented without opinion. The figures are there for each advertiser to evaluate, in accordance with his own needs.

Since A. B. C. audits only publications with paid circulation, our membership in the Bureau assures advertisers that the Sedalia Democrat and Capital stay in business by the voluntary support of their readers.

In order to maintain that voluntary support, we must demonstrate our responsiveness and responsibility to our readers. The A. B. C. audit tells both the advertiser and the editor the extent to which our newspaper is performing a service to our readers.

Not all newspapers are members of the Audit Bureau of Circulations—those that have had to earn the right to use this membership symbol. And, not all media can offer audited data about their circulation audiences—only A. B. C. members can.

The Sedalia Democrat and Capital are proud to display this hallmark of circulation value—the symbol of membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations—which has become synonymous with the words "service" and "integrity" in the protection of both the advertiser and the reader.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Battle of the Oil Titans in California

By DREW PEARSON

LOS ANGELES.—Here in California is being waged the battle of the titans. It's the millionaires against the billionnaires. And it has aroused almost as much attention at the battle between Ike and Adlai.

It's a statewide vote on point 4 to adopt a new oil conservation plan to keep California's vast, but fast dwindling oil reserves from being further squandered. Though it's a state battle, it has national repercussions: First, because other oil states face the same conservation problem but even more important because it continues the pattern used by the oil and gas companies to get what they want—namely, to buy up the Legislature, the Congress or the electorate.

In the case of the natural gas bill in Washington last winter, the gas-oil moguls tried to buy up the Congress.

In California for years they have bought up the Legislature. And right now they're trying to buy up the California electorate. Never in the history of California have newsmen seen the state deluged with so many handouts, billboards, TV plugs, blasts and counterblasts all aimed at influencing the voting public.

A total of $985,000 is officially listed by the billionnaires, the big oil companies, as spent to put across their conservation plan. How much has been spent beyond the official listings is of course not known.

A total of $575,000 is listed by the millionnaires, the independent oil companies, to block the conservation plan of the billionnaires.

Sad Commentary
Unquestionably California needs oil conservation. Ten years ago it produced all the oil it needed. Today it produces 70 per cent of what it needs. If oil isn't conserved, California will be forced to buy more and more from Arabia.

But the big question is: Should California have a conservation law rammed down its throat by the greatest propaganda machine ever seen in the state; and if the law passes can it ever be changed? The power of oil-company millions is such that change is difficult.

In the present battle of the billionnaires vs. the millionnaires the people of California are at least able to watch two groups of oil companies battle it out. They are fortunate enough to be on the side-lines, acting as referee.

The reason they are able to act as referee, however, is in itself a sad commentary on present legislative methods. For the California Legislature is so tightly controlled by the independent oil companies—the millionnaires—that no oil-conservation law could pass. That's why the big companies—the billionnaires—went to the people with a referendum.

Polio Being Conquered

An evaluation of the Salk vaccine at a recent meeting in Ann Arbor, Michigan, stressed the reasonableness of expecting consistently lower incidence of paralytic poliomyelitis in the years ahead. The evaluation came from medical records compiled by state health departments.

Even in the Chicago epidemic, not one paralytic case was reported among those children who had received three shots of Salk vaccine in the prescribed manner. In the Massachusetts epidemic in 1955 it was demonstrated that even one dose of the vaccine had a distinct effect upon the occurrence and prevention of paralytic polio.

The report showed not a single child who has had the three poliomyelitis vaccine shots has died of the disease this year.

The marvel of this discovery should be an inspiration to every parent and encourage them to have their children properly vaccinated immediately. One never knows when, where or whom the deadly crippling disease might strike.

Cheaper Coffee When?

The coffee industry in Brazil is being renovated and revolutionized so that coffee drinkers in America and the rest of the world can have cheaper and better coffee.

Sao Paulo, Brazil, is the coffee capital of the one hundred year old coffee industry. The "coffee break" is perpetual God-send for Sao Paulo, because it is the money from coffee export which makes Sao Paulo in the interior of that country the second largest city and a modern site of industrial development.

The campaign for cheaper and better coffee is under way. Large coffee plantations are being broken up into smaller individual lots so that more attention can be given to the individual coffee tree. On smaller farms the coffee bean can be picked right off the tree instead of waiting until the beans fall to the ground and lose some of their strength.

Plantation owners are co-operating with the Brazilian government.

How long it will take depends on many phases of the industry, but perhaps the day will soon return when coffee will be five cents a cup, in all establishments and the old song "Let's have another cup of coffee, and let's have another piece of pie," will again be on the Hit Parade.

Who's the Fairest of Them All?

The World Today—

Ike, Adlai Rummage About for Issues

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson have had time enough—with the election only 18 days away—to show what they think the campaign issues are.

Eisenhower has concentrated on domestic affairs, not the foreign field, although he devoted all of his Sept. 19 opening speech to foreign problems.

Stevenson has divided himself more evenly between affairs at home and abroad. Yet, judging from the way he picks up an issue, drops it, and comes back to it, he looks like a man having trouble deciding what to play up most.

With one exception Eisenhower has brought the word "peace" into every speech he has made as a reminder that the Korean War, which he inherited, has ended and that country has peace.

He also sometimes mentions

Korea directly and most of the time, in one way or another, combines "peace" with "prosperity and progress."

In short, he is saying: "Folks, everything is going well. Everything is under control. Things will get better too. Since you never had it so good, why rock the boat?"

Stevenson's central theme is just the opposite: "Things are not as good as the Republicans make them appear. All kinds of things need doing, but the Republicans won't do them. They're not interested in everybody, only rich people."

Stevenson has painted the Republicans as a do-nothing party for anyone but the wealthy. And he has tried to link Eisenhower tightly in the public mind with the Republican party.

The strategy in this is clear enough: a lot of people who didn't like the Republican party might still vote for Eisenhower personally. But they might not if they began to think of Eisenhower and the GOP as the same.

The proof of what Eisenhower and Stevenson think the campaign issues are is shown by what they talk of in their speeches.

But if you just listened to them say what they thought the issues were you might think they were a couple of confused candidates rummaging in a bagful of ideas, looking for something to say.

Although peace is his central theme, Eisenhower has said: "There is one thing that is not an issue in this campaign: the longing of all Americans for peace, prosperity and progress."

Another time he said he thinks the real issue is: "How do we manage America's internal affairs?" At another time he said: "What then is the real issue? It is this: What principles . . . policies and programs can best help our people . . . ?"

Stevenson, when talking of issues, has said the vice presidency is one of the "most basic" issues. Another time he said he considers the "question of war and peace . . . the overriding issue in any presidential campaign." Still another time he said "peace is not an issue in this election, but how best to deter aggression."

He said, "The central issue in this campaign may well be which party means what it says." And he said: "So far as the Democratic party is concerned this is the major issue . . . We are dedicated to our vision of the new America."

And he said "whether America wants to stay on dead center" is a central issue.

Unsanitary Conditions Lead Spread of 'Filth Disease'

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Amebiasis, or amebic dysentery, is a worldwide problem which is still with us. If conditions were ideal and people were perfect in their health habits, this disease could be wiped out. We know what causes it, how it is spread, and how to prevent it.

Amebiasis is a disease caused by an animal parasite known as an ameba. The particular one at fault lives in the human intestines, and is spread from one person to another.

It is almost invariably taken in to the body by being swallowed with drinking water or food, although flies can play a part, as can direct contact.

It is a filth disease, since the food or drink must have been contaminated by human waste containing the parasite.

The symptoms vary a great deal, both in nature and severity. The disease often develops suddenly with pain and tenderness in the abdomen. Diarrhea with bloody stools is common. Those who are attacked in this way are extremely ill and prostrated. Death can come during this stage, although most people recover.

Even after the symptoms have disappeared, however, the parasites usually remain in the intestinal tract. The victim may also develop a chronic stage of the disease, in which the symptoms are far less acute.

Sometimes a person acquires the ameba but never develops an acute illness. Alternating periods of constipation and diarrhea with mild symptoms, or even none at all, are frequent.

Those who do not have any symptoms but harbor the parasites are considered carriers. They are, of course, just as dangerous in spreading the disease as those who are acutely ill.

If carriers, or those with mild chronic symptoms, handle food in public eating places or homes, they are a source of danger to others. Most city public health departments, therefore, have adopted regulations regarding the health inspection of food handlers in restaurants and hotels with the aim of eliminating carriers.

There are several fairly good treatments for this disease. However, repeated courses of treatment by the same or different methods are often necessary to combat the tendency for recurrence.

Prevention is the most important line of attack. Every effort

Regardless of Election—

Small Business to Profit From Being in Limelight

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—Small business is a certain winner in this election.

Campaign oratory has so publicized the seriousness of small business problems that Senator W. Kerr Scott (D.-N.C.) predicts "Congress will take a whole new approach to legislation affecting small business regardless of how the election comes out."

This isn't just one Senator's opinion.

The shock of discovering the number of small business concerns forced to close their doors has been so widely felt that the mounting failures have become a campaign issue.

As always, the disaster figures differ. The House Committee on Small Business, according to Senator Scott, reported the Small Business Administration received about 11,000 requests for loans per month. Of these, only about 9,000 have been accepted and only 2,200 applicants have actually received loans. (SBA says "3,500 tentatively" approved.)

But the SBA noted a 15 per cent increase in small business failures in the first six months of this year as compared to 1955.

Adlai Stevenson charged on Sept. 13 that "the small businessman, who built this country, is being pushed to the wall."

Republicans refer to the GOP creation of the Small Business Administration in 1953 "to aid, counsel, assist and protect the interests of small business concerns."

This independent agency can guarantee loans obtained by small businessmen from banks or make loans directly. The Congress passed, and Eisenhower signed, a bill increasing funds available to SBA to $375 million from the former $275 million and raised its separate disaster loan fund from $25 to $125 million.

Already the Senate and House have special committees on small business. The Senate committee charged last January that small business has failed to share "the present boom period" on a "relatively equal basis with big business."

Both parties agree Small Businessmen find it increasingly difficult to get long term bank credit and rising costs make it almost impossible to compete with large-volume, small unit profit giants. Also they can't afford adroit Washington representatives to solicit defense contracts.

Ruth Millett Says—

Wise Woman Knows Need For Kindliness, Patience

A wise woman knows: That if she doesn't want to call attention to the faults of her figure, the less she talks about dieting and calories the better.

That if she would rather have other women's admiration than their sympathy, she had better play up her husband's good qualities and not mention his faults.

That the way to make other people ignore her age is to ignore it herself. A woman's age isn't important to others unless it is important to her.

That a woman doesn't have to be brilliant or clever to be good company. She needs to appreciate other people's intelligence, grasp the importance of their ideas and laugh readily at their jokes.

That it adds to any man's appreciation of his wife when others find her charming.

That an exceptionally capable woman is admired for her efficiency only so long as she doesn't call attention to it.

That the most important time for a wife to display unshakable calm is when her husband is upset. Also, that the most important time for her to keep quiet is when he is being unreasonable.

That a husband's needs are as important as the children's demands. Papa should never have any doubt that, to his wife, he is the most important person in the world.

That a man needs a woman's encouragement and continuing faith as much as a woman needs a man's strength and protectiveness.

That it is not only important to please her husband but it is also important to give him many opportunities for pleasing her.

That a man never grows tired of a woman who sees life as an adventure and finds plenty to laugh about along the way.

He gave of himself to eliminate fear.

Our trouble is that we close our eyes to His light and then blame Him when we fall. Let us open our eyes and cease to fear the darkness of our own sin.

In the bird world the Peregrine Falcon is one of the fastest flyers, having been clocked at 175 miles per hour.

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

The black of night is speckled in America with millions of street lights. Every city, village and hamlet has its particular way of lighting the way so that people may see with reasonable facility. Farms and rural dwellings have their floodlights and their outdoor guiding lights.

We want to see where we are going. We do not want to stumble over unseen obstacles. We want to know what or who else is moving in the night. We desire to be free from fear of that which may exist in the dark.

Mankind has experienced many catastrophes from unseen pitfalls and from lurking dangers in the unseen black of night. Fear has grown to such proportions that fear itself has hampered folk as much if not more than the dangers themselves.

No measure can ever be made of the mental anguish which has been eliminated by the introduction of lights along the way. However, we do not need a yardstick to know that we are much at ease with the diminishing of darkness.

God was well aware of the dangers of darkness. He knew the unseen pitfalls caused men to suffer physical harm and mental anguish. He sent His son into the world to be a light for our paths.

must be made to eat or drink pure food and water only.

Because of its extremely serious nature amebiasis should be fought constantly with all possible means.

Sunday School Lesson Notes:

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.
Recently I wrote about the Sixth Commandment, "Thou shalt not kill," and the part that it has played—or failed to play—in human affairs. Especially in the matter of conflicts, since that time when Moses wrote it upon the tablets of stone so long ago.

There is a phase of the commandment that is close to each of us, and that has, I think, a direct bearing upon much that is happening today, especially in deaths on the highways.

It concerns the value we place upon human life, and in a sense, also, our attitude toward death.

The writer of a letter to a Boston paper recently commented upon the fact that the insignia of mourning are so uncommon today in comparison with a former time. The observation, I think, is correct. I cannot remember seeing any of the widows I know in widows' weeds, which were once very common. And it is a long time since I have seen an arm band or hat band of crepe.

I think it may be said that the outward evidence of mourning may have had little to do with real grief. It may, in fact, have had a touch of ostentation, which some deep mourners would instinctively avoid.

Personally, I have great admiration for those who, with occasion to mourn, go about life and its appointed tasks with quiet courage.

But the writer of that letter is right in a conclusion based upon that observation.

The suggestion is that the lack of outward display of mourning has to do with an altered public attitude toward death. This attitude is one of apathy, a sort of casualness toward the fact of death.

This has much to do with the public attitude toward killing, and a failure to regard properly the depth of the tragedies daily perpetrated upon the highways.

There is much warrant for that observation. If a number of people are killed in an accident the news of it will usually be on a newspaper's front page, but I have noticed recently how often the death of a single person in an auto accident may be noticed only by a few lines on an inside page. A generation ago a single violent death might have had a front-page column.

It is an evidence of the immensely increased number of such casualties, but I think it is also evidence of a loss of sense of values.

It has long been my conviction that we shall make little progress in stemming the present-day slaughter of human life until we place more value upon the individual life, and upon life itself.

Rev. Schoonover Will Be YFC Guest Speaker

The Rev. Schoonover, Center-view, will be the guest speaker at the Youth for Christ Rally Saturday evening. The meeting will be held at 7:45 p.m. in the assembly room of the Courthouse. A youth band will also be on the program.

I think, too, we should have some regard to the loss and horror of death.

Is there a proper horror of death? I think there is. Personally, I think I am among those who think of death complacently and without fear.

So far as I know, I have little morbid feeling about it. But that does not lessen its horror. Death means tragedy and finality in the disruption of the relationships that one valued above all else; and with whatever hope one looks toward a world beyond, it does not assuage that longing "for the touch of a vanished hand, and the sound of a voice that is still."

I am sure that if there were a keener sense of the horror of death as well as of the value of life the results would soon show in our sad statistics. The Apostle Paul, a great authority, described death as the "last enemy that shall be destroyed" (Corinthians 15:26).

We might at least prevent that enemy from destroying so many before it is itself destroyed.

'It' Could Happen This Weekend

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
The Associated Press

The sudden, unexplainable ups and down of college football already have been vividly displayed this fall. The season has reached the stage where coaches of top-rank teams are muttering, "Don't let it happen to me."

"It," in this case, can mean either a horrible slump by a good team or an inspired performance by a steady loser. And it could happen this weekend to almost any of the leaders, from Michigan State to Miami.

Oklahoma is excepted. It's a bit beyond credibility to imagine the top-ranked Sooners, needing only one victory to set a new major college winning record of 34 straight, blowing the decision to a free-scoring Kansas team which has won only one of four games.

But Michigan State Coach Duffy Daugherty is battling overconfidence as his second-rated Spartans prepare to face Notre Dame.

"They'll be ready. When we tangle with Notre Dame, records mean nothing," Daugherty says.

Injury-riddled Notre Dame will be the underdog in a game for the first time since 1932 and that may be just enough to fire up a team that has lost two of its first three games.

Miami, ranked 11th in the latest Associated Press poll, opens the action tonight against Georgia, which won its first game last week. An upset appears possible but unlikely.

Other Friday night games include George Washington vs. VMI—a pair of Southern Conference title contenders—and Denver vs. Colorado College.

The top 10 teams, except Baylor, all are listed for major Saturday tussles and there are chances that a couple will come out as losers.

Georgia Tech (No. 3) takes on rugged Auburn. Texas Christian (4) meets tied but unbeaten Texas A&M in a game that could be a deciding factor in the Southwest Conference race. Ohio State (5) meets Penn State.

On down the line it's Mississippi vs. Tulane, winner over Navy last week; Tennessee vs. battered Alabama; Michigan vs. Northwestern, the team that blanked Minnesota's hopes last week; and Southern California vs. conference leader Washington.

Yankee, White Sox Players Are League's Leading Hitters

NEW YORK (AP)—Tom Sturdivant of the New York Yankees and Jack Harshman of the Chicago White Sox, both converted infielders, were the leading hitters among major league pitchers in 1936.

Sturdivant had the highest batting average, .313 while Harshman walloped the most home runs, six, and drove in the most runs, 19.

Actually, Sturdivant, who played at second base and third base in the Yankee farm system until 1932 was the only big league hurler to hit .300. He had 20 hits in 64 at bats while collecting five runs batted in and scoring five times. Tom had one-for-three in pitching the Yanks to a 6-2 victory over the Dodgers in the recent World Series.

Harshman had only 12 safeties and a .169 batting mark. But his home run total fell just three shy of the major league record for pitchers. Wes Ferrell of Cleveland hit nine in 1931.

Eden Names New And Younger Defense Minister for Britain

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden named a new and younger defense minister today and at the same time brushed aside complaints about the handling of reservists called back into uniform because of the Suez Canal crisis.

Eden promoted 50-year-old War Secretary Anthony Head to the post of minister of defense. Head, who succeeds Sir Walter Monckton, 65, has insisted right along that army reservists will have to stay in uniform until the Suez Canal dispute with Egypt is settled.

Monckton was named paymaster general and remains in the Cabinet. He asked to be released from "the constant and mounting strain" of the defense office.

John Hugh Hare, minister of state for colonial affairs, was appointed secretary for war.

The government announcement of the changes made no reference to the numerous complaints of the handling of the reservists. But Head's elevation was a clear sign of Eden's confidence in him and was expected to strengthen the minister's hand against Labor party criticism when Parliament resumes sessions next week.

SOONER "BACK OF THE WEEK"—Tommy McDonald, Oklahoma's All-America halfback last year, is bidding early for repeat honors. His brilliant performance in Oklahoma's 45-0 romp over Texas earned him the title of "Back of the Week". He scored three touchdowns, rushed for 160 yards, caught two passes for 61 yards and threw one for 27 yards. (AP Wirephoto).

Shoemaker Is First Jockey to Ride $2 Million Winner

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—Willie Shoemaker is the first jockey in racing history to pilot horses to two million dollars in purse money in one year.

"Silent Shoe" set the mark yesterday at Garden State Park by riding Ada L. Rice's Beautifull to victory in the sixth race, worth $3,245 to the winner. The winning ride put Shoemaker's 1936 purse winnings at $2,001,165.

Shoemaker set the previous money winning mark of $1,876,760 in 1934. He also won the honor in 1931 and 1933. His total purse earnings for seven years in the saddle is $11,190,240.

Only twice since he began riding in 1949 have Shoemaker's horses won less than a million dollars. His mounts earned $485,010 in 1949 and $844,040 in 1950. After that he was in the millionaire class every year.

The winner yesterday was Willie's 306th for the year.

The New York Yankees drew 1,713,912 fans for 77 games in 74 playing dates on the road during 1935.

Wilbur Volz, Dartmouth backfield coach, was an 8th Air Force gunner during World War II.

Senator Directors To Vote on Move From Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—Calvin Griffith's effort to move the Washington Senators from the nation's capital comes up for a directors' vote today.

The five-man board of directors meets late today to consider offers the club president says he has received from Los Angeles, San Francisco, Minneapolis and Louisville.

The Senators, finishing deep in the second division, drew smaller crowds than any other big league team in the last two years, and Griffith yearns for greener pastures. He leans toward Los Angeles, and he and other heirs of the late Clark Griffith hold a controlling interest in the club's stock.

Reports are that a majority of the board will swing along with Griffith, but H. Gabriel Murphy, largest single stockholder with 40 per cent, vigorously opposes any shift. Murphy has threatened court action to prevent a transfer.

Six of the eight American League clubowners must approve any move. And that may well be a stumbling block.

Griffith must also obtain a satisfactory contract with Los Angeles, if that city is chosen, and come to an agreement with the Pacific Coast League and with Phil K. Wrigley to purchase his Los Angeles Coast League franchise.

Griffith has only 12 days to get everyone's agreement before the Oct. 31 deadline for transfers effective for the 1957 season.

Sentimental Tug in Store For Bruins

CHICAGO (AP)—Halas U will be jumping Sunday as "athletic director" George Halas gives a sentimental tug at the Chicago Bears' old school ties.

The high-powered Bears have a National Football League "revenge" date with the Baltimore Colts, who handed the Bruins their only defeat in three starts, 28-21 at Baltimore Sept. 30.

But in addition, it will be a sort of "founder's day" at Wrigley Field with owner Halas honoring his original Bear team, the Decatur (Ill.) Staleys of 1920 and 1921.

Some 38,000 fans will jam the park for the festivities which include a collegiate touch, the swing and sway of the 20-piece University of Illinois band.

That's quite fitting, because Halas was fresh out of the University of Illinois when he organized the Staleys football team at Decatur, in 1920 as recreation director for a corn and soybean products concern.

Halas moved the Staley franchise to Chicago in 1922 and changed the team name to the Bears, which the enterprising young player-coach felt suited a club using the Cubs' baseball park. The 1920 Staleys had a 10-1-2 record. In 1921, they won the first championship of the newly-formed National Football League with 10-1-1.

The ancient Staley gang on hand will include such illustrious early pro footballers as Charley Dressen, now manager of the Washington Senators; Jimmy Conzelmann, Dutch Sternaman, Guy Chamberlain, George Trafton, Bert Ingwersen, Tarzan Taylor and Pete Stinchcomb.

Paddy Driscoll, Halas' trusted lieutenant through the years, officially is the head Bear coach this year.

"Certainly Paddy is the coach," Halas chides anybody who suggests George might still be calling the field shots. "This has been his team from the start and our success to date must be credited to him."

But Halas conceded he does "a little checking both after and before games." Then he added slyly: "After all, if you own a dairy, you'd be keeping track of the quarts and pints, wouldn't you."

Tokyo Team Defeats Dodgers in Opener Of Exhibition Tour

TOKYO (AP)—Aided by the 16-strikeout pitching of two ace hurlers, the Tokyo Yomiuri Giants beat the Brooklyn Dodgers 5-4 today in the opener of Brooklyn's 20-game Japan exhibition baseball tour.

A pair of eighth inning solo home runs by Kazuhiko Sakazaki and Tetsuji Kawakami off Don Bessent put the Giants into the lead for keeps.

Takumi Otomo whiffed 10 Dodgers after coming on in the fourth. His predecessor, Shoji Horiuchi, who was tagged for home runs by Jackie Robinson and Gil Hodges, fanned six.

Martin, Lewis Prospects Are Growing Dim

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Names in the movie news— Dashed it all, it looks as if Hollywood will lose Diana Dors for a while. She'll be taking her well-publicized figure back to England as soon as she finishes "The Lady and the Prowler," her second film.

"I thought I was going to stay three years; that's why I bought a house," she said. "But now a picture has come up in England, and it appears that I will be spending as much time there as here."

But she'll be back in the spring, when she expects to make a film with Bob Hope.

Dean Martin is a new man on the "10,000 Bedrooms" set. "I can't wait to get to work in the morning," he says. "I even hate to leave for lunch." He was speaking of his joy in playing a single leading role instead of being straight man for Jerry Louis. As time goes on, the prospect of their reuniting as a team grows dimmer.

Wonder why MGM doesn't re-issue "Joe Smith, American," the 1942 film that starred Robert Young. It was produced by a young Democrat named Dore Schary.

Seeing Joe E. Brown on those World Series TV commercials makes you wonder why Hollywood producers don't take advantage of his fine comic talents and wide popularity.

Puzzlement: Why MGM curtailed Marlon Brando's role in "Teahouse of the August Moon." The bulk of the picture goes to Glenn Ford.

Robert Wagner was dubbed "bachelor of the year" by the Men's Apparel Guild in California. Young Bob, in sideburns for his Jesse James role, admitted being mistaken for Elvis Presley in Palm Springs.

Good listening: David Broekman's album of "Wide World," Judy Garland's new album, "Judy."

Ike Travels To California For Campaign

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — President Eisenhower, still banging away at Adlai Stevenson's military draft and H-bomb views, travels to California today "to continue to lay the facts on the line."

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty indicated Eisenhower will fire another salvo of criticism at the Democratic presidential nominee in a major address in Los Angeles' Hollywood Bowl tonight.

In California, with 32 electoral votes, the President goes into the thick of a hot battle against the Democrats. Eisenhower carried the state in 1952, but Stevenson forces feel they have a good chance to win it this year.

"The President plans to continue to lay the facts of the campaign on the line," Hagerty said in advance of Eisenhower's departure from Portland.

The press secretary declined to say whether the President would hit once more — as he did in a nationwide television address from Portland last night — at Stevenson's proposals that efforts be made to win world agreement on halting H-bomb tests, and that consideration be given to ending the military draft "in the foreseeable future."

An overflow audience in the 4,700-seat public auditorium applauded as Eisenhower — without mentioning Stevenson by name — said:

"I have not promised you — nor do I ever intend to — that the way to defend peace or freedom is to abandon simultaneously our military draft and testing of our most advanced military weapons, under the circumstances of today's world."

"For I know — as I believe all Americans know — that, without strength in this world of today, the road to surrender is paved with good intentions."

The President made two speeches in Portland's Public Auditorium to capacity audiences.

In the first, he said that in the field of foreign affairs the voters have a choice between "hard sense and experience versus pie-in-the-sky promises and wishful thinking."

Christian Church Stresses Family During October

Special stress during the month of October in the life of First Christian is being laid on family life and activities as they have place in the life of the congregation. The recent dinner honoring 50 year and over members of the congregation was one event.

Another is the development of the extended church hour in the Nursery Department. This is tied in with the Church School life and continues through worship and communion. The guidance and care of the smaller children, makes possible the attendance of older children with their parents in the church services.

This Sunday the Youth Choir under Mrs. Fred Hanley will sing the number "The Heart of God". Dr. S. P. Williamson, will use as his sermon theme "Christ multiplying Potential".

The Youth Group is using a new series of study lessons.

The church will entertain the County Christian Women's Fellowship Thursday evening at 7:30. Boy Scout Troop No. 66 will participate in the Council Scout Show at the Fair Grounds Coliseum this Saturday and they will have a Court of Honor for all interested Thursday evening.

Political Inquiry On Plant

Claim Officials Hiked GOP Aid Following Pact

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18—(AP)—Democratic House investigators said today the officials of a construction company, after getting a big government contract, boosted their 1954 contributions to the Republican party approximately 1,000 per cent over previous years.

This figure was presented to a Government Operations subcommittee on the basis of records of the clerk of the House and affidavits submitted by seven officials of the Frederick S. Sore Corp.

Awarded Nickel Plant

The construction firm on July 27, 1954, was awarded, along with Merritt-Chapman & Scott, a 43-million-dollar contract for expansion of the government's nickel plant at Nicaro, Cuba. Each company received $500,000 under the cost-plus-fee contract.

The data on the political contributions went into the subcommittee hearing record after Randall Cremer, a former Sore vice president, told of what he called "terrible" political pressure in the scramble for the nickel contract. He said the political activity included Democrats as well as Republicans.

In discussing the stepped-up campaign gifts, Cremer said it was not felt that they were a "condition" of the award.

No Feeling of Obligation

He said he could remember no feeling of obligation on the part of company officials to make the contributions, although he said he personally felt "morally committed" as the result of talks with Leonard Hall, Republican National Committee chairman.

House records showed the seven officials contributed a total of $7,500 to the Republican congressional committee in 1954. Their contributions in the previous seven general elections averaged $636 a year, according to the records.

Cremer said the increase was simply due to "the fact that it did look important to all of us to elect a Republican Congress to back up the President and they seemed to need funds."

But, referring to the nickel award, he said, "There was more politics in this affair than anything I want to see again."

Sedalia Suffers Burns As Chain Saw Explodes

Lawrence Clark, 41, 205 East Hogan, suffered painful burns on his right arm and right leg, about noon Thursday while working on a farm of Dr. S. E. Haynes, near LaMonte. Clark was using a chain saw when it exploded spraying him with gasoline.

Other workmen nearby smothered out the fire before he was burned more than on the arm and leg. He was placed in a car and rushed to Sedalia and taken to the Bothwell Hospital where Dr. John Lamy rendered medical treatment. Upon reaching Broadway and Barrett the car was spotted speeding by Motorcycle officer Charles Knapp, and when he learned of the situation gave the car a fast escort on to the hospital.

His condition was not considered dangerous.

Ag Dept. Reports It Has Paid $65.5 Million on Soil Bank

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18—(AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today it made payments totaling $68,501,532 to farmers in 41 states through Oct. 12 for retiring land from production this year under the new soil bank program.

This amount compared with $18,087,212 which had been paid out through Sept. 28. Payments started going to farmers late in the summer.

The department had estimated farmers would earn about 261 million dollars if all carried out their land retirement agreements. However, some later withdrew.

The Weather

CENTRAL MISSOURI—Partly cloudy today and Saturday; cooler Saturday; high today in lower 80s.

The temperature Thursday at 7 a. m. was 52 82 at 1 p. m. and 83 at 2 p. m. Low Wednesday night 50.

Stage at the Lake of the Ozarks, 53.3 feet, no change.

A NEIGHBORLY GROUP—This is part of the crew of 54 neighbors of Glenn Chamberlin, of Route 1, Houstonia, who last Tuesday gathered together to harvest Chamberlin's corn crop east of Hughesville. Chamberlin, who fell victim of his own corn picking machine when he caught his left wrist in the machine and his hand had to be amputated, is in Fitzgibbon Hospital at Marshall. After his accident, the "ball started rolling" among the neighbors to go to Chamberlin's three corn crops and harvest it for him. Ninety acres were stripped of corn and put into a large barn in a day's time. The party stands in front of part of machinery used in the work, all of which was estimated to be valued at $150,000.

Benson Asked For Additional Aid on Drouth

Symington Stresses Need for a Decision On Seeding in State

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 18—(AP)—Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) wired Secretary of Agriculture Benson today with a recommendation that he take immediate action on the balance of a Missouri drought assistance program recommended to Benson Oct. 10.

Symington, a member of the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry, stressed what he termed the need for an immediate decision on the fall seeding program in the drought-parched state.

Aid on Seed Costs Asked

Among recommendations made to Benson when he met with the Missouri State Drought Committee in Columbia was that the government pay half the cost of seed and starter fertilizer to plant small grain for pastures, hay or silage this fall.

The state committee recommended a five-point program. Since then the Department of Agriculture has approved one of the recommendations by permitting grazing of soil bank acreage reserves.

In addition to the seeding program, other recommendations were for more federal money for an accelerated brucellosis control program, government payment of up to 50 per cent of the costs of building or renovating farm ponds, and a cattle buying program.

Calls for Immediate Decision

Symington asked Benson to announce his decision on the seeding program as soon as possible.

In Jefferson City, L. C. Carpenter, state commissioner of agriculture, also expressed concern that the Department of Agriculture had not approved the emergency seeding program recommended by the drought committee.

He said the opening of reserve soil bank acres to grazing would mean very little in Missouri, except to a few individuals. But if farmers got some help on seeding pastures and forage, they would stand a chance to benefit when fall rains come.

CORN CROP SAVED BY NEIGHBORS—Several farmers, who were part of a crew of 54 neighbors of Glenn Chamberlin, who lost his left hand in a corn picker a week ago, are shown loading corn to an elevator to carry it into a large barn. It had been picked from 90 acres which had been farmed by Glenn Chamberlin.

Hits at Demo's 'Good Intentions'—Ike Replies to Adlai's Stand On Abandoning Draft, H-Test

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 18—(AP)—President Eisenhower, cracking hard again at Adlai Stevenson's stand on the military draft and the hydrogen bomb, said tonight, "The road to surrender is paved with good intentions."

As is his custom, Eisenhower again refrained from mentioning his Democratic foe by name.

But in his speech prepared for delivery at the Civic Auditorium—and on ABC radio and television nationwide—the President left no doubt about whom he was talking. "I have not promised you—or do I ever intend to—that way to defend peace or freedom is to abandon simultaneously our military draft and our testing of our most advanced military weapons," Eisenhower said.

"Weakness Means Surrender" "For I know—and I believe all Americans know—that, without strength in this world of today, the road to surrender is paved with good intentions."

It is on both these issues that Stevenson has differed considerably from the administration's stand.

Stevenson has said thought should be given to ending the military draft "in the foreseeable future." And he has said that he thinks the testing of the H-bombs should be halted.

Eisenhower's statement tonight was his first mention of the H-bomb issue since his decision yesterday to have a full history of the superbomb drawn up to answer Stevenson's charges.

Sense vs. Wishful Thinking The President made two speeches in the Civic Auditorium here today and in some ways the one he made off the cuff, to a cheering crowd of 4,700 this afternoon, had more fire and brimstone in it than the speech over which he had labored.

For this afternoon he plunged hard for a GOP victory telling the workers that "the choice is one between hard sense and experience versus pie-in-the-sky promises and wishful thinking."

East Reich Police Ordered To Quell Strikes in Factories

Protest to Low Pay, High Work Quotas in Key Centers

BERLIN, Oct. 18—(AP)—Communist East Germany's secret police have been ordered to quell slowdown strikes that are gripping key factories, Western sources reported today.

The League of Free Jurists—a West Berlin anti-Communist organization with numerous contacts in the East—said the secret police have been sent into factories in Magdeburg, a tense center of labor unrest. Der Tag, an independent West Berlin newspaper, said 2,000 police have been rushed into Magdeburg from East Berlin.

Same Issues as in '53

The newspaper said the strikes have spread to factories in Erfurt and Karl Marx City—formerly Chemnitz. The newspaper and the Free Jurists said the strikes resulted from long-standing grievances about low pay and high work quotas. These were the same issues which sparked the East German workers' rebellion of June 17, 1953.

The Communists themselves have acknowledged that Magdeburg has labor unrest, but have denied strikes are taking place.

The acknowledgement was made Tuesday, in the official labor newspaper Tribune. It said workers at four Magdeburg factories were angry about low pay and excessive work quotas. A Communist party spokesman in Magdeburg—reached by telephone today—denied the strike reports. He termed them a "dirty lie."

Denies Strike Reports

The East German radio also denied the strike reports.

"They were invented from A to Z," a broadcast said, insisting that production is normal.

The Free Jurists said five big Magdeburg factories have been affected by the strikes. Two were formerly owned by the giant Krupp firm. One of the ex-Krupp plants—now called the Thaelmann works, after an East German Communist leader—has been solidly ringed by police, the Free Jurists reported.

"The Thaelmann works has been completely cut off from the outside world," the Free Jurists said. "Production is at a virtual standstill. In the other big factories the picture is not uniform. In Karl Marx factory, for example, there are still individual divisions that are working."

Work Toward Agreements

However, the Free Jurists said, secret police have been sent into all the factories, and Communist functionaries are trying to negotiate agreements with the workers.

"It is generally expected," the Free Jurists said, "that the crisis will come to a head during the weekend."

Blasts GOP for Balk on School Aid—Adlai Terms US Draft A 'Waste of Manpower'

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Oct. 18—(AP)—Adlai Stevenson tonight called the present draft system "an incredible waste" of manpower and money.

He said a better way must be found to preserve the nation's military strength in what he called an era of shaky peace "based on a balance of terror."

In the prepared windup speech of a two-day whistle stop tour of Michigan and Ohio, the Democratic presidential nominee also declared the Republicans "twist and distort" any new idea for strengthening the country.

Frown on New Ideas

"They seem to despise new ideas," Stevenson said, elaborating on a theme he developed all across Ohio in company with Gov. Frank J. Lausche who is trying to unseat Republican George Bender, and Mike DiSalle the Democratic candidate for governor.

Stevenson's Youngstown speech followed brief addresses along the way in which he:

1. Said in Elyria, Ohio, that "greedy and frightened" Republicans of advanced age are willing to "cripple the younger generation to cut taxes." He blamed the GOP—which had blamed the Democrats—for the failure of Congress to approve federal aid to schools.

2. Contended at Toledo, speaking in front of a statue of William McKinley, that the Republicans are trying to set the clock back to the beginning-of-the-century era of McKinley. He said the opposition party is bogged down in "creeping complacency."

Stevenson took sharp issue with President Eisenhower and other Republicans who have opposed his suggestions that a way should be sought to end the draft in the not too distant future and that efforts should be made to stop hydrogen bomb tests through international agreement.

Actress Doesn't Want Pigs On Her Future Farm Home

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — "Pigs are not open-minded — they're sneaky," said Siobhan McKenna, positively, "and I won't have them on my farm."

"But I love cows. They have such beautiful long eyelashes."

The farm that Miss McKenna, brightest star of the current drama season, spoke of was the one she dreams of owning and retiring to some future day in her native Ireland. After, of course, she achieves another dream — to play Hamlet. No, not Ophelia. Hamlet! And she'll probably get her wish.

Every now and then an actress comes along who can scratch a match in your veins and set your brain and heart aflame. For several weeks young Miss McKenna has been doing just that to audiences in the off — Broadway Phoenix Theater with her electric portrayal of the tomboy saint in Bernard Shaw's "St. Joan."

Critics have acclaimed her "Greatest Joan of the century," and, indeed, who before her ever played Joan in Gaelic in Dublin . . . in English in London . . . and planned to do it in French in Paris?

What is Siobhan (pronounced "Shh-vawn") like offstage? Well, she is so busy — almost every day a new Hollywood producer suddenly "discovers" her — that seeing her alone is only slightly less difficult than it would be to arrange a private game of crabgrass billiards with President Eisenhower.

Finally I arranged a luncheon date. It came during a break in a seven-hour rehearsal of an Oct. 15th NBC-TV presentation of Somerset Maugham's "The Letter," in which Miss McKenna portrays a cool-blooded murderess.

Siobhan saves her acting for the floodlights. She showed up wearing a weathered tweed suit and flat-heeled white shoes. She wore no makeup. A cherry-red stocking cap hid the raw-necked GI haircut she had to undergo for her role as Joan.

I noted that she seemed to be 5 feet 5 and 125 pounds of talent held together largely by freckles. "I'm afraid that no one in the theater except Katie Hepburn has more than I do," she said ruefully. "In Gaelic freckles are called 'little trout,' and Irish girls who have them console themselves by saying they are signs of beauty."

"But as a child I used to try to scrub them off with butter-milk."

Siobhan, daughter of a Galway

University mathematics professor, is a graduate mathematician herself and has a sister who is a dentist. As a child she wrote and acted out her own plays in a neighbor's barn. She spent three years with the Abbey Theater in Dublin. She has played everything from Lady Macbeth to Charlie in "Charlie's Aunt."

Her Irish flares up when anyone questions her desire to play Hamlet. After all, didn't Sarah Bernhardt?

"And why shouldn't a woman be Hamlet?" she asked. "He is like Joan, an extraordinary figure. But Hamlet's problem is intellectual, rather than physical, so why should there be any great shock about having a woman play him?"

As Siobhan talked little thought clouds and laugh crinkles chased each other across her self-serious face, like ripples on a summer pond. She also has a habit, endearing in women, of absent-mindedly picking up small crumbs from the tablecloth and eating them.

She finds the offers of quick Hollywood gold now pouring in on her somewhat disturbing.

"I don't like to plan far ahead. Here you obey time so much. I like to live in the present, and have no desire to know the day and hour I'll pass on."

"Before I do anything else I want to go back to Ireland. I miss my son, Don. He's only eight."

Miss McKenna's husband is Denis O'Dea, of Dublin's Abby Players.

"You know the country people in Ireland are very honest. They tell you straight out what they think. Instead of telling me how nice I look, they'll say, 'Oh, Siobhan, how you've failed!'"

Miss McKenna's green eyes glowed as she talked of her future farm.

"Actresses are so foolish with their money," she said. "They should save it and buy a little farm they can retire to and live comfortably."

"I want a farm of only 40 acres. No swimming pool. No pigs. I've tried hard to like pigs, and I can't. But horses, yes. And cows. And a few fattening bullocks to pay the bills — so that I can gamble a bit on the horses."

In Gaelic Siobhan McKenna's name means "A bright spirit sprung from fire." It fits this Colleen as neatly as do her freckles.

More than two-thirds of Arizona is owned by the federal government in national parks and forests, Indian reservations and military installations.

Helen Plaster, Roy Borghardt Exchange Vows

Miss Helen Plaster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Plaster, Centertown, and Roy Borghardt, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Borghardt, California, Mo., pledged wedding vows in a double ring ceremony performed at two o'clock the afternoon of Saturday, October 6, by the Rev. E. L. Koch at the Evangelical and Reformed Church in California.

The bride wore a street length dress of turquoise taffeta with full skirt, styled with a fitted bodice with scoop neckline which formed a V in the back. Her corsage was white carnations.

Mrs. Herbert Gertz, St. Louis, sister of the bridegroom, and Mr. Gertz were the couple's attendants.

A reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Borghardt, immediately after the ceremony. The table was covered with a lace cloth, with a centerpiece of fall flowers, greenery and lighted tapers. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with miniature bride and groom. Miss Ruth Borghardt, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Elaine Schull and Mrs. John Francis, California, served.

The couple left for an unknown destination after the ceremony. They are now at home in an apartment in California.

Both the bride and the bridegroom are graduates of the California High School. The bridegroom served two years in the U. S. Army and is now employed by the MFA in California.

Quick Diagnosis

HATTIESBURG, Miss. — When Dr. Ramsay O'Neal noticed a slight fluttering in his heart region while on a fishing trip, he wondered if it was the forerunner to a heart attack.

Another flutter and he clapped his hand over his heart in real anxiety.

That's when he found the small bearm which he had caught earlier and absent-mindedly placed in his shirt pocket.

Malaria, which once had a devastating effect upon the working manpower of Greece, is now under such control that the nation has become a rice and wheat exporter, instead of importer.

Roofs have definitely come into the limelight, both in the designing of new homes and the modernization of older ones.

Today the type of roofing used goes much further than simply choosing the one that will give the greatest protection at the lowest cost.

Color, texture and pattern are equally important. Architects, realizing that the roof is the single largest area of the house, choose the roof color to dictate the entire exterior color scheme of the house.

Designers say that a light colored roof can make a house appear taller, an important note for one-story homes. Engineers have discovered that a white roof will make a home cooler in summer through greater heat reflection.

Roofing materials are now available in a wide range of colors to satisfy any home owner's color preference. Asphalt shingles, the most popular roofing material, have a coating of ceramic granules which give the roof both color and texture. They are firmly imbedded in the base material so that the color and texture remain for the life of the roof.

With air conditioning becoming increasingly popular, the selection of a roofing material with insulating qualities is of utmost importance. This factor, plus the choice of a light colored roof, can greatly increase the efficiency of an air conditioner.

If, during Operation Home Improvement, a home owner is planning to reroof his home he should be sure the following points are checked: soundness of the roof deck to determine whether it will support the additional weight of the new roof, an examination of the old roof for curled or loose shingles, and a thorough check-up and repair job on the flashing at chimneys, plumbing vents, skylights, dormers and valleys.

Window Screens Require Proper Winter Storage

Improper storage can take more out of a window screen than a whole summer of weather. Ordinary wood-frame screens will last for years with proper care. Before storing them away for the winter, put a coat of paint on the frames to prevent rotting and warping.

When springtime comes, the family will want those screens up in a hurry to take advantage of the fresh-smelling breezes without the accompanying early crop of insects. For this reason, as well as that of prolonging the life of the screen, do the repair work necessary before storing them away.

In addition to paint on the frames, the screens themselves may need mending or patching. If the frame is no longer as sturdy as it once was, make it more rigid with steel "L" braces available at any hardware store.

One essential point in storing screens is a window coding system. Numbered metal tabs, also available at hardware stores, may be tacked onto both screen frame and window frame to make the job of getting the right screen on the right window easier in springtime.

When possible, the screens should be stored in a dry, cool place to prevent rust and rot from taking over.

These few aids not only will make the screens more effective and durable, but will make the job of installing them easier.

Be Sure Your Heating System Is Adequate for the Winter

Your heating system is just as important as your home's mortar-and-wood, and furnishings. Modern heating is more than just being warm! It is healthful, comfortable warmth, produced by a heating system that will do it efficiently, economically and, as automatically as possible.

Many modern heating units are equipped with features that can save many dollars on your fuel bill. The burners are designed to give more heat more quickly—with minimum fuel consumption.

Unlike most of your home's structure, a heating unit is made up of many moving parts, hidden parts and parts subject to intense heat and pressure.

They must operate perfectly at all times. The best way to insure trouble-free heating is to look for a manufacturer with a high reputation for dependable equipment. A heating unit is an investment that should last for the life of your home.

Warm air heating systems are the best known and most widely used in new homes today. But the demand for steam or hot water still prevails in a number of sections of our country.

Your local heating contractor can give you excellent advice on the type of heating unit best for your home. He's trained and competent on all heating problems.

He can help you with modernizing plans for conversion units, new heating units and hot water heaters.

Today's heating units are no longer bulky, unsightly, space consuming, dirty or noisy.

They are unusually compact,

Outside Wall Care Can Save Home, Money

If your home is among the millions of American dwellings that have begun to show their advancing age through the tell-tale condition of their exterior sidewalls, now is a good time to do something about it.

As countless families have discovered in this year of Operation Home Improvement, the nationwide fix-up drive, shabby exteriors can be given new life and beauty at relatively low cost nowadays by application of asbestos-cement siding.

Fall is an ideal season for such a project, building materials dealers explain. The weather generally is favorable and the job can be completed in time for the householder to enjoy a full winter of added comfort and lower heating cost which weathertight new siding brings as bonus features.

Available in a wide variety of pleasing colors and styles, including a choice of surface treatments, asbestos siding can be installed easily over existing wood surfaces. It also can be applied to stucco exteriors by nailing it to horizontal wood furring strips attached to the studs through the old stucco. On houses where the stucco is in extremely poor condition, however, it is advisable to remove the old material before installing the asbestos siding.

Revising an aging home in this economical way is a solid investment that actually pays for itself over a comparatively short time through savings in maintenance.

Youth Is Shot Fatally, Two Hurt in Fight

CHICAGO (AP)—One youth was fatally shot, another was seriously wounded and a third was slashed and beaten in teenage-gang violence last night in a Southwest Side park.

Police said Fred Kruse, 18, walked into a police station shortly after the brief but violent gang fight and admitted he had fired the shots which killed Warren White, 17, and wounded Edward Melant Jr., 18.

Slashed on the face and beaten was Richard Bukovic, 19, described by police as a member of Kruse's gang. Bukovic, Kruse and four other youths were held by police without charge in connection with the shooting and fighting.

Chief of Detectives Patrick Deeley said the shooting occurred after several youths drove to the Cornell Square Park at 51st and Wood streets and approached White, Melant and Gerald Sternal, 17, who were sitting on a park bench.

Deeley said Sternal told him Kruse warned White not to move and when White advanced, Kruse fired once. Then, he added, when Melant got up, Kruse fired three more shots, two of them striking Melant. White, a high school senior, was shot in the heart and was dead on arrival at a hospital. Melant was shot in the chest and right arm.

Kruse and his companions ran to the two cars they had driven to the park but Bukovic was left behind in the park, Deeley said Sternal told him.

A dozen youths, attracted by the shots, ran to the park from a nearby candy store, Sternal's account to Deeley continued, and they grappled with Bukovic, who has slashed as they struggled. Twenty stitches were required to close Bukovic's wound.

Deeley said neither Bukovic nor any of the other youths questioned would give any reason for the attack on the youths. Police, however, attributed the shooting to a dispute among members of rival neighborhood gangs. All of the youths involved are white.

routes in the city. Additional right of way will be needed.

"You should also know that the recently approved Federal Aid Act of 1956 makes more money available for highway construction in Missouri, and this will hold true in cities as well as rural areas of the State. So it is entirely reasonable to expect that the urban program in Sedalia will go forward at a faster rate than was expected at the time the 1954 Urban Report was made. This, of course, is contingent upon Sedalia being in position to pay its share of the right of way costs."

The letter was signed by Rex M. Whitton, chief engineer of the Highway Commission.

Charges Vendo Makers Moved to Monopolize On Soft Drink Vendors

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The Vendo Co. Kansas City, Mo. described as the largest manufacturer of soft drink vending machines in the nation, was charged today by the Federal Trade Commission with the illegal acquisition of a major competitor, Vendorlor Manufacturing Co., Fresno, Calif.

The commission complained the acquisition, on Sept. 18, may lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly.

The complaint alleged the combined sales of the two companies represented more than 50 per cent of all coin-operated vending machines dispensing bottled soft drinks. The industry numbers 16 firms.

The companies are allowed 30 days to answer the complaint. A hearing has been scheduled to be held in Kansas City on Dec. 10.

repairs. Many services are offered by the library, he pointed out. The library extends reading enjoyment through books, periodicals, pamphlets, and other reading material; then there are pictures, there are radio programs, motion picture films, free educational films, the Recordak on which back issues of The Sedalia Democrat may be seen, the children's hour once a week and even jig-saw puzzles. The library offers meeting rooms, free of charge, and now the Listening Room in the basement with the new hi-fi equipment.

Shoemaker went on to tell that the gift from Kiwanis was the idea of Albert Wuelfing, who has great knowledge and love of music. Wuelfing's interest in the hi-fi equipment inspired him to suggest the gift, which, when taken before the board was immediately decided upon. He said that it was then turned over to the music chairman, William Ward, who worked with Wuelfing in getting the hi-fi sound equipment, and he added it was the finest; there is no better equipment.

The equipment was accepted by Lawrence Barnett, a member of the library board, who stated that the board was doubly pleased over the gift, first, because of the need in the function of the library which cannot be fulfilled by books and periodicals alone. The modern library, he said, includes all cultural things, fine records and equipment to play them. This, he said, takes care of the immediate needs, thanks to Kiwanis.

In the second place, Barnett said, the board is pleased that this service organization, made up of leaders in business and professions, recognized the fact that they may be of service to the community through their library.

Albert Wuelfing was then introduced and explained and demonstrated the hi-fi sound equipment. It is simple to operate and maintain, he said. He played the records without and then with the hi-fi sound equipment to show the amazing difference. This, he told the group, will be an aid to the education of fine music, the basis of bringing out the meaning of it and is something for the good of the entire community.

Members of the library board were then introduced by Messers: Lawrence Barnett, Mrs. L. V. Corley, Mrs. Bryan Howe, Mrs. Kenneth Love, Phillip McLaughlin, Robert Overstreet, Mrs. E. M. Stafford and E. L. Zoernig.

The Listening Room is located in the basement at the foot of the front stairway. It is a small glass enclosed room with soft green walls and comfortable green upholstered chairs and it is here the new hi-fi equipment will be located for the use of the music loving public.

Other rooms in the basement also have been painted.

The corridor where the desk is located on the first floor has delicate green walls, the reading room to the east has mauve walls and the children's room on the west, the walls are candy pink. All of the ceilings are white and new fluorescent lights have been installed giving much light and changing the appearance of the rooms entirely. In the extreme back of the library where the books are located yellow has been used to make it lighter. Upstairs, the assembly room has pinkish gray walls, the board room is green and the DAR room yellow all with the effective white ceilings. Floor covering throughout is of two tone shades of beige.

At the present time the library has two full time workers, Miss Mary English, librarian, and Miss Philomene Bergmann and the following part time workers, Miss Nettie Lamm, Mrs. Camilla Walsh Wilson, Mrs. Virginia Wickliffe, Miss Minnie Murphy, Miss Lou Parish and Mrs. William Ward.

In the children's room refreshments were served by members of the board or wives of the members, with Mrs. Messery pouring the coffee, and Mrs. Stafford, Mrs. Love, Mrs. Howe and Mrs. Corley serving cake, mints and nuts. The table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with a large arrangement of roses, carnations and snapdragons in shades of pink. On either side were tall silver candleholders in which were lighted pink tapers and at the end of the table the silver coffee urn.

that may be necessary to accomplish this merger."

It indicated there was a misunderstanding over assignments and salaries of some members of the staff of the merged unions.

Daughter to Slaughters

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Enos Slaughter New York Yankee outfielder, and his wife, today became the parents of a 7 pound 14 ounce daughter.

The girl, named Gage Arlene, was born at St. Luke's Hospital by Caesarian operation. The hospital reported both mother and daughter in satisfactory condition.

happening. The place has been broken in three or four times before and the police have been called down there before this," Payton said.

Weston was picked up at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Alberta Crowbarker, 422 West Clay, where he has been living since Saturday. He told the authorities he and his brother-in-law were out picking up scrap iron to get money to buy milk for his two babies.

He told of going into the old house, but didn't do it to cause any trouble or do any harm. It was an old empty house and no body lived in it. He said Payton had ordered them out, but didn't recall him telling them to wait until police arrived. He also said he didn't know any shots had been fired.

Weston was unaware his brother-in-law had been killed until told by the police.

Police who arrived at the place, after talking with Payton, began searching the area for Crowbarker. They searched through the corn field and around in the weeds for more than an hour.

Chief Neighbors had gone to Highway 65 and talked with Charles Frisbe, 501 North Park, who saw the Negro run. While standing on the edge of the highway, a Negro woman standing nearby said there was something that looked like some rags in a clump of weeds about 30 feet from the highway. Chief Neighbors walked over to the point and found Crowbarker's body slumped down on his stomach as if he was trying to crawl.

Gillespie ambula made the run, but when they arrived they saw that Crowbarker was already dead. Dr. Rodeman was then notified and the Ferguson ambulance called to take the body to the Ferguson Funeral Home.

Dr. Rodeman said an inquest was not necessary, after the questioning of both Payton and Weston. Prosecuting Attorney Harold Barrick released Payton after talking to the two Negroes. "At present I would say it was justifiable homicide," Barrick said. "Payton had found the two in his house, and had made an attempt to detain them for the police and when they ran, it was not until then he shot. Under the law, he was justified in endeavoring to detain the men, they having entered his property without permission."

No charges were immediately filed against Weston in connection with entering the house. He was booked for investigation of breaking and entering.

Dr. Rodeman said the bullet, a .22-caliber short, had entered Crowbarker's back and apparently punctured the left lung.

Crowbarker was born May 10, 1939, the son of Mrs. Alberta Crowbarker, and the late Richard Crowbarker.

He is survived by: his mother; two brothers, John, 22, Willie, 13; three sisters, Mrs. Hattie Weston of the home, Mrs. Madeline Walker, Kansas City, and Patricia, 2, of the home; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave James of Gilliam, Mo., and Harrison Crowbarker, 301 North Montauk; and a number of other relatives.
